

PRESS RELEASE

Between 24 April and 5 May, some 210,000 passengers will be travelling for the long, spring weekends of 25 April and 1 May

From 24 April to 5 May – during the two long, spring weekends of 25 April and 1 May - a total of some 210,000 passengers are expected to arrive and depart from Naples airport: 110,000 on domestic, 80,000 on international and 20,000 on charter flights.

The highest passenger flows are expected to take place Monday, 28 April and Saturday, 3 May, respectively, with some 18,000 and 20,000 passengers.

Traffic details for spring weekends	Passenger traffic forecasts
Weekend of 25 April (24-28 April)	85,000 passengers: 41,000 domestic, 35,000 international and 9,000 charter
Weekend of 1 May (30 April – 5 May)	110,000 passengers: 59,000 domestic, 41,000 international and 10,000 charter

Barcelona, London, Paris, Berlin, Madrid and Prague as well as Sharm-el-Sheikh are the most requested destinations for these two long, spring weekends.

The network of direct, scheduled flights* at Naples International Airport for the spring summer season includes 32 scheduled international routes, 15 domestic routes and over 50 charter routes. During the summer season, 27 airlines will be operating from Naples airport.

2008 Spring – Summer Network of international and domestic flights:

- International Destinations: Hamburg, Amsterdam, Athens, Barcelona, Basel, Berlin, Brussels, Bucharest, Cologne, Copenhagen, Dublin, Düsseldorf, Frankfurt, Friedrichshafen, Geneva, Hanover, Kiev, London, Madrid, Malta, Manchester, Memmingen, Munich, Moscow, New York, Oslo, Paris, Prague, Stuttgart, Stockholm, Vienna and Zurich;

- Domestic Destinations: Alghero, Bologna, Bergamo, Brescia, Cagliari, Catania, Genoa, Milan, Olbia, Palermo, Rome, Turin, Trieste, Venice and Verona;

Naples, 22 April 2008