

Naples - Paris: New daily flight to be operated by Alpi Eagles as well as additional connections to Sicily with two daily flight to both Palermo and Catania.

As of 29 October, the first day of the fall-winter season, Alpi Eagles will be operating more domestic and international connections to and from Naples thus increasing the number of daily flights offered by this airline from six to nine.

In particular, Alpi Eagles will be operating a new daily flight to Paris - Charles de Gaulle, two new daily flights to Palermo and the existing twice-daily service to Catania will be extended to include Saturdays and Sundays as well.

These new flights are in addition to the existing service to Venice and Berlin via Venice, Barcelona and Catania.

The new flight schedule for Alpi Eagles, which operates modern, comfortable 94-seat Jet Fokker 100s– 82 seats in tourist class and 12 in business, is as follows:
